

How to Care for your Wetsuit

Freshen up your smelly wetsuit

Your wetsuit does a lot for you on the water. Keeps you warm and helps you perform. It's time we looked after our wetsuits...

Whether it's sweat or wee here is how to wash and care for your wetsuit

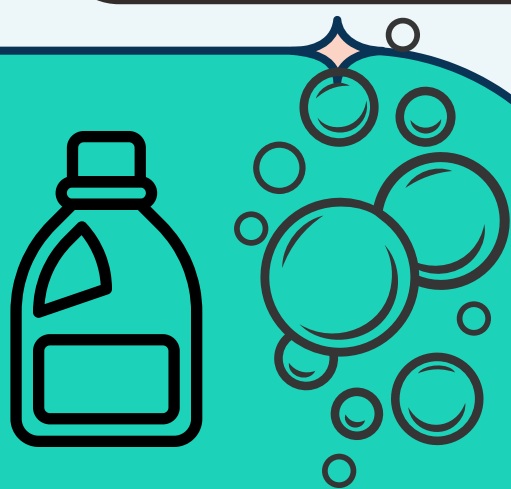

Dip it

Washing your wetsuit not only makes it smell better it also helps increase its lifespan. Ideally wetsuits should be hand washed in a bucket or bath of warm water to avoid damaging the suit in the washing machine. Start by rinsing off the salt, sweat and wee in clean water.

Wash it

Next wash your wetsuit. There are a few biofriendly wetsuit washes on the market (Coco Loco, Slosh, O'neill wetsuit wash) designed for cleaning wetsuits. Use the guidance on the bottle.

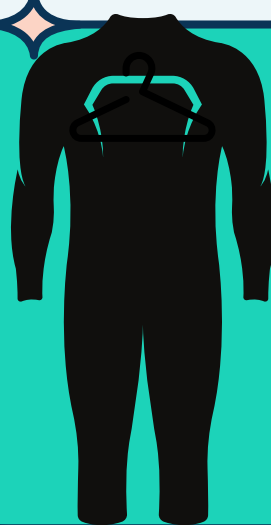

Rinse it

Next step is to rinse off the wetsuit wash in clean water

Dry it

The best way to dry a wetsuit is to hang dry it - let nature do its thing.

Our events

We will have a wetsuit washing station at all of our RYACW events. Come and dip it, wash it, rinse it, dry it.
